Cheering with Yeah Yeah Out Loud

YEAH YEAH Out Loud or YYOL is a small program created to help boost children's self-esteem. With Hur-ray the sun and Kiddazy the daisy, educators and parents can help support and engender self-esteem. The program materials include two puppets, a book, and an online resource for activities and worksheets. YYOL also offers stickers, bookmarks, and posters to accompany the program. It can be used by parents, teachers, mentors, or any child care providers. The book is colorful and my sons are loving the simple, rhythm of it. You can stick with the suggested script or have the children help you to create one. Of course, they also loved taking turns with the bright puppets and my oldest practiced cheering for his younger brother.

We all want our children to have self esteem and there are so many little and big things that we do everyday to help them to develop independence and self-confidence. We all have that little cheerleader inside of us and perhaps we also have the opposite...the naysayer, the little guy that talks us down. With YYOL, parents can sit down, enjoy a positive and uplifting playtime, and nurture the positive while ignoring all of that negative talk. In the end, it's all about the cheer!

Visit YYOL and if you are one of the first 15 readers ordering with the code "Momsvav," you will receive 15% off all orders over $10 and free shipping in the US.
